

October 7, 2011. At 2 am, Bank Rakyat Indonesia (BRI) ATM Bank in Sleman, Yogyakarta, is set on fire. The fire causes an explosion in the unit which destroys the premises. The sabotage is just one more instance of resistance in a country which is destroying its trees, mountains and coastlines for profit whilst oppressing its people.

Now 3 people are arrested. They are all accused of being involved in damaging the bank. We are not interested in finding out if the prisoners are "guilty" or not, nor of the extent of their "crime". "Crime" is no food on the table and the bosses taking the lion's share. "Crime" is clear-cut forests and mining companies who beat and kill who they like with the help of the police. Freedom is fighting back and reclaiming your life from oppression.

What we know is that Indonesia is a regime which is propped up by western capitalists and militarists. It is a nation which tortures and massacres its opposition, like every state that can get away with it where it can.

Kulon Progo is a farming area near Yogyakarta, and in 2005 Jogja Magasa Mining and Indomines metal industries wanted to take the land for their industry. The farmers there didn't give their land to the industrial company because they didn't want nature to be destroyed by them.

Tukidjo is a farmer who was arrested and imprisoned just because he was vocal in the demonstrations against this situation.

Freedom for Tukidjo and the Yogyakarta 3 rebels

The farmers and the people of Kulon Progo, Pandang Raya, West Papua, Bima and elsewhere in Indonesia, are appealing for international solidarity and complicity in their struggle alongside the anarchists and anti-capitalists, who are all against the violent terror of the Indonesian bosses, their paid murderers and corporate backers. Don't let them fight alone!
